1.0 FROM THE ARCHIVES

• Interview with Olawale Babalakin SAN OFR (1971)

GCI is like Cambridge University where the best minds are gathered together in a small University town and are prepared to create their dreams. The experiences at GCI gave one the confidence and impetus for life's challenges

• My Life At Government College Ibadan

A few factors influenced my character formation, and personality development during my stay at the College. There was the general atmosphere of disciplined life with every minute allocated to doing something creative. There was the ability to study and do research in order to bring out new facts so as to score high marks. There was the fear, the distaste to be 'booked down' in the conduct sheet and to appear before the housemaster or Principal for any question. This encouraged everybody to be at his best behavior at all times and . . .

• The Scala Misadventure

The idea then suddenly struck me that I could make D.J. allow me satisfy my passion to watch the Beatles. After taking six strokes, I asked if could have another six in advance. D.J. was stunned and looked at me with consternation. He asked me why, and I told him I would be sick if I did not go to watch . . .

• Looking Back Made Me Lose The Race

It was the men's freestyle finals and two of the contenders were my cousin, Fynye Ekineh from St Gregory's College, some International School swimmers and my good self I think there were three or four other swimmers for this event. However, their best time in the heats and from the elimination process did not bother me. I was in the final lap of four (4) pool length and about three meters to the

- GCI Wins The D.J Bullock Inter-School Theater for SDGs Contest. Students Get Endorsement.

The Dereck John Bullock Inter-School Theatre For Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) Contest aimed at enlightening the secondary school students in Ibadan on the 17 United Nations SDGs; improving the students' communication, critical thinking and performance skills; and creating a platform for discovering and grooming artistic talents had come and gone, but its awesome memories linger on. The contest co-organised by The DJ Bullock Endowment Fund Committee . .

- GCI 2108 Valedictory Speech & Prize-giving Day

It was the famous United States' Artist, Ralph Ransom that quoted that "Before the reward there must be labour, you plant before you harvest". The harvest time for the students of Government College Ibadan came on Wednesday, 25th July, 2018 as the School graduated 212 students from the Senior School, 182 from Junior School I and 181 students from Junior School II having fulfilled the academic and statutory requirements of the school, during their Valedictory Service at . . .
